

<<The Necessary Beggar>>

图书基本信息

书名：<<The Necessary Beggar (简装)>>

13位ISBN编号：9780765349514

10位ISBN编号：0765349515

出版时间：2007年03月

出版时间：Tor Science Fiction (2007年3月6日)

作者：Susan Palwick

版权说明：本站所提供下载的PDF图书仅提供预览和简介，请支持正版图书。

更多资源请访问：<http://www.tushu007.com>

<<The Necessary Beggar>>

内容概要

Praise for Susan Palwick

&#8220;Packs a huge emotional wallop...Flying in Place is a brave and honest work, an impressive and important debut.&#8221; &#8212;San Francisco Examiner

&#8220;Unflinching clarity and great dramatic power&#8230;Susan Palwick, a young writer who has hitherto attracted some notice for her stories, poems, and essays, is with Flying in Place a novelist of moment.&#8221; &#8212;Newsday

&#8220;One of the best and most moving novels by a new author I have read in years.&#8221; &#8212;Alison Lurie on Flying in Place

&#8220;I read it in one night and a morning train trip, arriving for work dazed, distracted and drinking in the last few pages. It is a deeply moving book. Palwick&#8217;s withering understatements of pain are laced with a regret for the lost magic of childhood&#8212;even a ruined childhood.&#8221; &#8212;Geoff Ryman on Flying in Place

&#8220;Flying in Place is a bittersweet novel of a dead sister who returns to give our narrator the tools she need to break her family out of the poisonous pattern that is consuming them all. ... beautifully handled ... a wonderful debut for a writer who has proved she can write well in long forms as well as short ones -- may it be the first of many novels from Palwick, each one better than the ones before.&#8221; &#8212;Orson Scott Card

&#8220;Flying in Place is compelling, wrapping deep-empathy insights in lyric poetry to show us the monster behind the mask.&#8221; &#8212;Andrew Vachss

<<The Necessary Beggar>>

版权说明

本站所提供下载的PDF图书仅提供预览和简介，请支持正版图书。

更多资源请访问:<http://www.tushu007.com>