内容概要

Wine: A Basic Course is a step-by-step guide for the new wine-lover. This fully indexed, illustrated volume provides an essential commentary on wine and wine drinking. It offers a complete education in the mysteries and subtle art of viniculture, from pairing up wines with food to understanding the distinctions between Old and New World wines. Over 300 color photographs are featured. 作者简介： Tom Forrest was born in Edinburgh, Scotland. He began studying wine seriously in 1976, while at catering college, and began teaching the subject in 1982. He has been a judge at the International Wine challenge since 1999, is a member of the tasting panel of Wine magazine, and is currently manager at Vinopolis, London's wine-tasting visitor attraction. He lives in London, England.
