章节摘录

Modern Cowboys Today, there are still cattle ranches and cowboys. The work in many ways remains the same. But with fences and modern machines, a lot has changed. Even cattle rustlers now use planes and helicopters !

Rodeos give modern cowboys a chance to show their skills. In the old days, when cowboys got bored on cattle drives, they often challenged each other in informal competitions. Soon towns had more formal competitions for cow-boys. Today the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association sponsors about 700 rodeos a year.

If you go to a rodeo you'll see events like calf roping, bull riding, and bull dogging. Bull dogging was invented by Bill Pickett, a black cowboy, as a way of stopping steers that were running wild. Pickett would ride alongside a steer, then jump on it, grab its horns, somersault (滚翻 , 空翻) across it, and pull the steer to the ground. Texas and other western states have ranches that will take you on modern cattle drives. On a drive, you'll live like a cowboy—sleeping on the ground and eating beans and beef. You'll do work that cowboys do—rounding up and branding cattle. You won't have to do any bull dogging, though !

64. From the first Paragraph we can learn A. the first cowboys in America are blacks B. Mexican cowboys once were freed from Mexican prisons during the Civil war C. cowboys often lived quiet but dull life D. people most of the time misunderstood the cowboys
65. In the era of the cattle drive, the cowboys A. cowboys drove cattle to Texas and Kansas B. drove cattle of different owners C. worked day and night with many dangers D. had the cattle marked with hard-to-change brands to prevent cattle running away
66. Cowboys stopped driving cattle because ____ A. the number of the cattle declined dramatically B. it made driving cattle unnecessary surrounding much land with a fence and more cattle C. the cowboy was loaded with other work D. the owners of the cattle failed to make money by doing that
67. What is the writer's attitude in this passage ?

A. Supportive. B. Objective. C. Critic. D. Negative.

The weather in Atlanta, Georgia is notorious for its summer heat and humidity that it has earned the nickname "Hot-lanta", a kind of play on words. It is then appropriate that one would seek a cool and refreshing drink to cope with the weather. Thus it was truly serendipity that what is today known as a cool-refreshing Coca Cola drink was born in Atlanta. A shrine of sorts was built by the Coca Cola company in the city and was dubbed "The World of Co-ca Cola". In the world there will be two icons of American culture that you will always find. For fast food, one can always find the McDonalds and then, even in some of the remote parts of the world, you will find crates of the Coca Cola bottle. The "World of Coea Cola" is the perfect nickname as you can find what is essentially, the world's soft drink. Whether you are in the developed countries of the world or the developing countries in Asia and South America, it will always be there in a small shop or a road side stand. In the museum the visitor is invited to experience the 100 year history of this soft drink. Toward the end, visitors are invited to taste the different brands of Coca Cola, the company manufactures throughout the world. There is a bit of controversy regarding the origins of Coea cola. The story goes that a chemist in Atlanta was trying to make a tonic that would give people more energy. The combination he came up with was a mixture of caffeine and an extract from the now infamous coca plant, where the narcotic cocaine is derived." But the Coca Cola company is quick to point out that the extract that they use is not the same as the narcotic. Coca Cola, though, did not become a world-famous world name just by word of mouth. Throughout its history, the company has become a marketing juggernaut. In the Coca Cola Movie theatre you can see 20 minutes worth of commercials that the company and its advertising agencies have created over the past half century. Of course, the journey of the World of Coca Cola ends in the gift shop.
