章节摘录

插图：My interest in Chinese food started many years ago, when I had my job. I was a young reporter for the Daily Journal in San Francisco. Our office wasn't far away from Chinatown. I usually managed to arrange my schedule so that I could go there at least two or three times a week for a good meal. The first time I ever ate Chinese food I loved it. And since then, it just tastes better and better to me. The first thing I noticed was the fresh taste of the meat and vegetables. When I learned more about the food, I began to understand why it has this unique feature. In order to economize in cooking, they had to use very little wood. So they started to cut their meat and vegetables into small pieces before they put them in the hot oil. That way, the food cooked faster and they saved their fuel. The food prepared in this manner kept its fresh and it's the flavor that attracts people to the art of Chinese cooking.
