<<中国民间故事>>

内容概要

When the apes finally evolved into Man , they awoke to find a world they enjoyed and innumerable things which were beyond their imagination. Wow !

Why ?

Fantastic folk tales were thus created. Such tales were passed down through history orally , but are still told today. The more recent versions are , of course , masterpieces of modern fiction.

章节摘录

Bai Suzhen and Xiao Qing , Bai meaning white and Qing green. They descended to Hangzhou , hailed as the "Paradise on Earth". They were enjoying the smiling lotuses on the West Lake by the Broken Bridge when dark clouds gathered and thunder began rumbling in the sky. A downpour was obviously imminent. Bai and Qing both possessed the magic power to turn something by the road into the umbrellas they needed , but how could they do so when there were so many people around ?

What was to be done then ?

A young man came over and addressed them politely , "Don't worry. You may use my umbrella." Bai and Qing accepted the offer and promised to return it the next day. The next day saw the two snake ladies go and visit the young man at the given address. They found he was Xu Xian and his parents were dead. He lived with his sister's family and worked in a drug store.
