章节摘录

Do you know April Fools Day ?

On the day people can play jokes to others. People think it started in France. In the 16th century, people changed New Years Day from March 25th to April 1st. In the mid-1560s, King Charles IX changed it from March 25th to January 1st. But some people still celebrated it on April 1st, so others called them April Fools. In France, people call the April Fools "April Fish". They tape a paper fish to their friends' backs. When he or she sees this, the others shout, "April Fish !"

In England, people play jokes only in the morning. You are a "noodle" if someone fools you. In Scotland, April Fools Day is 48 hours long. They call April Fools "April Gowk". Gowk is another name of a cuckoo. In America, people play small jokes on their friends. They say to you, "Look at your shoelace." If you look down, you are an April Fool then.
