内容概要

For me happiness consists of three things: reading the most wonderful books in the world, meeting the most wonderful people in the world and visiting the most wonderful places in the world. Where, you might ask, are the most wonderful places in the world? The benevolent see benevolence and the wise see wisdom. Let us not talk about this for the moment. Lao Tze is one of the most wonderful people to have ever drawn breath on the earth. His wisdom has been admired by people from all over the world for millennia. The Tao Te Ching is one of the most wonderful books ever created. Every single sentence is striking. The first sentence echoes like the peal of a large bell lying at the bottom of the sea as it breaks the waves of the surface. "The Tao that can be told is not the eternal Tao." The Tao can be sensed but cannot be expressed in words. One would think that great waves should surge in the heart of Lao Tze, but he speaks calmly.

版权页：插图：Every time people are confronted with a great challenge, they always look back to better times. The aim is not to think constantly about the previous times, but rather to bring forth new ideas. Now we are on the eve of a great leap forward, so we really need to focus our attention on the voice of the sage. Lao Tze's thinking has far-reaching significance for our everyday lives, because it can help us build a harmonious society and cultivate a healthy body and mind. Confucians assembled crowds, gave lectures and had 3,000 disciples, while Lao Tze lived in seclusion and relative obscurity. The Tao Te Ching was his teaching materials. The volume is so short that it cannot really be seen as teaching materials, but rather a 5,000-word outline for lectures. The outline is so profound and each word seems like a sparkling star. I would confidently assert that these 5,000 stars could lighten the heart of every person in the world with their harmonious and wise light.

I believe that there exists a power beyond the will of humans in the universe. It is great, magnificent, deserted and lonely. In the presence of it, our discord, success and failure is utterly meaningless. Our life is just like what Lao Tze said it was: "The Tao gives life to all things, and its virtue nourishes them, forms each according to its nature and gives to each its inner strength." — qiguang zhao
