章节摘录

Clara Barton was a great American woman. She devoted all her life to helping others. She founded the American Red Cross, a group which still helps millions of people. During the Civil War she went to the front and looked after the wounded men. She was called the Angel of the Battlefield. The American government didn't help her and didn't realize how important she was until later. She realized that the Red Cross could help not only soldiers, but other people. Many people have been helped by the Red Cross when they need help most. It's true that people need help during a disaster, such as a flood. Clara Barton took part in many kinds of work to help others. She also wrote books. Beethoven, a famous musician in the world, was born in Germany in 1770. Beethoven didn't have a happy childhood. His father was a singer. When he was only four, his father began to make him practise hour after hour on different musical instruments.
