章节摘录

So much so that we begin to lose ourselves. Let's go back to who we used to be. Carefree of norms and happy for simply living a life our own. 6. You aren't stuck in any situation. Whenever I'd lose a friend, get an awful grade, or disappoint my parents, I stewed in my own muck. Waiting for the bad moments to go away seemed to be the only solution. Fortunately, I know now that you don't have to be stuck in bad situations. You can go out and create better ones. It all depends on perspective on how you see the situation. Viewing everything as a learning experience makes life more pleasurable, even during the hard times. You aren't stuck. You can move on. 7. You learn by doing. This is a lesson that I unknowingly followed for quite some time. I used to try everything at least once, just to see how it was like. But as I entered my teen years, I became wary of trying new things. Skepticism enraptured me, fear grabbed hold of me, and soon I became gutless. ...
