章节摘录

The China Railway Group has the contract to carry out a study that will link Phnom Penh(金边) with Snoul near this countrys western border with Vietnam. This 255 kilometer stretch will complete the Singapore-to-Kun-ming line, a railway connecting southeast Asia to the heart of China. Paul Power, an advisor to the Cambodian government says, "It makes Cambodia the center of transportation between China and Singapore and you would have a port link, you would have a link to Thailand, youll have a link through to Vietnam and the results for that, for Cambodia in the region, are that Cambodia becomes the center. "He says freight(货运) will provide the greatest economic benefits, particularly for shipping goods like rice. The railway will be a cheaper alternative to ships and trucks. However, the contractors first must deal with the issue of resettling people living along the route. In Cambodia, poor landholders often are pushed out with little compensation(补偿) to make way for commercial developments, causing considerable public anger. If the resettlement issues are resolved quickly then authorities hope the first passengers from Singapore to China and beyond as far as London, will start boarding within the next two years.
