第四部分 命题立意?参考答案及解析

章节摘录

B Every morning , Ms Li always takes her daughter Kate to a nearby park to play. She believes that walking outdoors to breathe fresh air is helpful to her baby. Kate is now 17 months old. She looks very lovely. Ms Li feels very proud of her daughter. She tries to invent various ways to develop Kate's intelligence (智力) . In order to encourage her daughter to eat more , she even bought many colorful , lovely nursing bottles and bowls for her. But recently , Ms Li has felt confused. Kate's weight and height are much lower than those , children with the same age as her daughter. Their average weight is 10.6 kilograms , and their minimum normal weight is 8.3 kilograms. And their average height is 79.9cm. But Kate is just 68cm tall , even 5cm shorter than the minimum normal height of children at her age. She is just as tall as an average 7-month-old child. And her weight is only 8 kilograms. The doctors told her that her daughter got lead poisoning (铅中毒) . Ms Li couldn't understand why her baby was suffered from lead poisoning. She invited some experts to her home to search for the cause. The experts found automobile exhaust (汽车排气) has polluted the indoor air of Kate's home. When she goes to the park to play with her mother , she also breathes in lots of automobile exhaust on the way. At Kate's home , the experts noticed these colorful nursing bottles and bowls her mother had carefully selected for her have lots of lead. Ms Li didn't know that her living environment has quietly caused serious harm to her baby.

C I was in line waiting to pay. In line there : were two people in front of me. A little boy was buying some rather strange clothes. He chatted with anyone who was interested in the clothes and soon we learnt that he was going to a kindergarten , (幼儿园) party. He had done a great job of putting together interesting costumes. I noticed that the little boy was paying mostly with chan , ge (零钱) .It seemed that he had robbed his pig bank , k (猪形储蓄罐) to do this shopping. However , the cashier told him he was short after counting all the money. The boy thought for a moment and said , " Please keep the shirt and I will come back with more money. " .....
