章节摘录

7 Another way that Matt creates a sense of drama is through sentence length. Most of the sentences in the extract are long and quite complex. What effect does the sentence 'Well it did, have on the dramatic impact of the passage ?

8 Matt also uses the technique of suspense. He seems to leave us at the point where we don't know what happens next. Then it was the horrifying experience of being swept completely out of control, with our raft upside down, down the Brahmaputra to we knew not what fate. What do you think happened next ?

SPEAKING 9 Work in pairs. Decide how to impress your partner by making your text below more dramatic. Choose your vocabulary carefully and vary the sentence length. When you tell your story make sure you make it sound dramatic and exciting.

Student A: I was in the desert in a land rover when there was a sandstorm. The storm blew the land rover over and we jumped out. The sand went in my eyes and mouth, in fact it went everywhere. It was difficult to breathe. I thought I was going to suffocate (die because I had no air to breathe) . I wrapped a scarf around my head. The storm finally stopped after twelve hours and we were rescued by some Tuaregs.

Student B: I was in a small plane. Suddenly we hit a storm and the plane was shaken about for about five minutes. Everybody was frightened and screaming except for me. The pilot said he was out of control. The engine stopped and we started to dive (go down fast) . Luckily the engine started and the pilot managed to land safely at the airport.
