章节摘录

These historic images and film footages are embedded in a sound collage , which runs through the entire house. Engine- inspired sounds are interwoven with other music that penetrates from the lower floors upwards because all floors of the house are connected spatially; music can be heard on all levels of the house The "House of Motor Sport" outlines the entire racing sport history of BMW. The uniform design element is a "passing landscape" , which expresses the speed of the vehicles - whether it concerns the BMW 328 , specialized Formula One cars , motorcycles , or touring cars A perforated hole pattern made of anodized aluminums , integrated with backlit film strips and text , clothe the exhibition rooms of all three floors. Appearing Screens play suitable film sequences as the viewer approaches the films show the exhibits - statically staged in the exhibition - in real surroundings in the context of their time. Dynamism and mobility are the focus. They are alive

Below the "Champions" space is the location of "Motorcycle racing Success on two wheels and three " It shows how BMW , since the end of the 1930s , through world records and racing successes is the most successful sports brand in Europe This curved , graphical band is marked in the ground Ernst Jacob Henna , however , reached his 1929 world record of 279.5 kilometers per hour on a straightLine consequently , a straight band on the ground is assigned to him. The space "Touring cars in the fast lane" is the stenographic climax of the "House of Motor Sport" exhibition. Five exhibits are composed using media display performances. The use of documentary toot age , sound , and dynamic lighting effects generate a tension-loaded racing atmosphere Within the darkened room , pulsating lights come from backlit filmstrips On the opposite side of the room , an emotional documentary plays , pulling the visitor and objects into the happenings. The surround sound comes from a rock band , expressing the drama of the events and the feelings of success and passion. One can receive direct access from this room in the "House of Technology “to the adjacent exhibition space “Aerodynamics. Shaped by the Wind "Therefore. spatial light relationships were synchronized to create a subtle connection between the two rooms.

House of the Series As the path of the visitor continues , one approaches the "House of the Series" that presents the successful policies of them model lines This house is flanked by installations that were previously out of sight , which traverse the entire height of the building A transparent and delicate-looking structure of platforms and wire ropes forms the class tower , where them 520 , BMW 323i , BMW 734i , and them 633 CSU seemingly float in position On the opposite side the "Rear Views" of the BMW cars appear in their colourfuldiversity. The nameplates arrange into an expansive , artistic installation and convey the diversity of the series. ……
