内容概要

Chinese lacquer has mostly been collected by institutions and museums in the past , while relatively few pieces have found their way to private collectiOns . A comprehensive presentation of a broad spectrum is not an easy task . Dr . Hu Shih—chang IS a long—standing member and an ardent supporter of the Oriental Ceramic Society and in him , we have found the essential scholar to tackle the subject , having made a catalogue of the Lee Family Collection(Tokyo)of Chinese Lacquer exhibition at the Museum of East Asian Art at Cologne in 1990 . He is again instrumental in bringing pieces from the Lee Family collection , probably the largest and best collection of Chinese lacquer in the world , to the present exhibition . Mr . Sammv Yukuan Lee , over 90 years of age and head of the family , is a pioneer collector in the field , and much respected for his foresight in connoisseurship . Dr . Hu himself is also regarded as a pioneer collector of lacquer in Hong Kong . and we have the opportunity of seeing much of his collection in the present display . He has been ably supported by his wife Dorcas , and we wish to thank her for her assistance in many organizational aspects to the exhibition.
